Why It Looks Like Hughes

"Reasonably Certain" States Give Republican Standard-Bearer 300 Electoral Votes.

The prophecy based upon reports from various sections that Charles E. Hughes will be elected President by between 300 and 325 electoral votes was forthcoming from Republican headquarters in a statement made public Monday night.

Only 266 votes are necessary to elect. The reports of the political forecasters, as compiled by Mr. Willcox's secretary, lay claim to 300 votes as "reasonably certain," with 50 "possible," 25 of which are "probable."

The "reasonably certain" States are given as follows: California, 41; Connecticut, 7; Idaho, 4; Illinois, 25; Iowa, 13; Kansas, 10; Maine, 6; Massachusetts, 12; Michigan, 15; Minnesota, 12; Montana, 4; New Jersey, 14; New Hampshire, 4; New York, 45; North Dakota, 5; Ohio, 24; Oregon, 5; Pennsylvania, 38; Rhode Island, 6; South Dakota, 4; Utah, 4; Vermont, 4; Washington, 7; West Virginia, 4; Delaware, 3. Total, 300.

The other 25 votes, according to the statement, are to come from these States: Arizona, 3; Colorado, 6; Kentucky, 13; Maryland, 8; Missouri, 18; Nebraska, 8; New Mexico, 3; Oklahoma, 10; Indiana, 15; Wisconsin, 13; Wyoming, 3.

Concerning these uncertain States the comment is made:

"These 11 States have a total of 100 votes, and while none of them have been placed as reasonably certain several of them might well have been so placed. At any rate I feel that a guess on 25 votes of the 100 is conservative to say the least, and unless I prove to be a very poor guesser Hughes and Fairbanks will pull upward of 325 out of the total of 511 electoral votes in November."

Hon. Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Lewiston, for three terms Democratic representative from the Second District is worried about his chances for retaining his berth, says the Portland Express. He has hurried home from Washington, leaving Congress to run along without his valued assistance, and is asking the Second District as with a fine tooth comb, holding meetings in every considerable town, meetings which he has arranged himself. He spent last week in Oxford county, speaking every night. In the opinion of men in the Second District he has reason to be worried, for Wallace H. White, Jr., a Republican candidate, is making a fine impression all over the district, and in 1914 Mr. McGillicuddy became a minority congressman, being elected through the Progressive split.

At the big Republican meeting in Dover Friday evening, Hon. Carl E. Milliken commented on newspaper stories about a few Progressives coming out for Wilson, and told the following story:

"A great New York editor was once asked to give a definition of news. He replied that perhaps he could illustrate it better than he could tell it. 'If a dog bites a man, that isn't news,' he said. 'That's a common thing and is happening all the time. But if a reporter comes in with a story about a man's biting a dog, that is news because it's something unusual and I tell him to rush it through and play it up for use on the front page.'"

"So, when a Progressive comes out for Wilson, it's something so unusual that it's worthy of a place on the front page," concluded Mr. Milliken, "because the great majority of them are for Hughes."

The Democrats will make small headway in their attempt to make a party campaign issue out of the referendum on the 54 hour law. The law was passed by a Republican Senate, endorsed by the Republican platform, and Hon. Carl E. Milliken, Republican candidate for Governor, has expressed himself absolutely in sympathy with the principle of the law and declared that he thinks the people of the State would adopt it in the referendum. New Commissioner of Labor Roscoe A. Eddy, a Republican appointee under Gov. Haines who has doubtless held his position under this partisan administration simply because the law makes him not subject to removal by the Governor and Council except for cause, has declared that he sees no reason why people should change their minds and oppose the law. Mr. Eddy says he has read the arguments against the law and "I cannot find any reason to cause me to change my mind in regard to the measure nor do I see anything in the arguments to cause anyone who favored the bill when it was before the Legislature to change their minds."

Democratic papers have made much hullabaloo over the fact that Bainbridge Colby, Matthew Hale, Ole Hansen and John Seymour, former Progressives, have come out for Wilson. But to balance this list we find such leading Progressive spirits as Theodore Roosevelt, Raymond Robins, Oscar S. Straus, Clifford Pinchot, Hiram W. Johnson, James A. Garfield, Chester H. Rowell, William Allen White, George W. Perkins, Charles Sumner Bird, Harold L. Ickes, George L. Record, Henry J. Allen, William Hamilton Childs and hundreds of others who are openly supporting and working for the election of Charles E. Hughes.

In Maine the Democrats announced with great acclaim that Frank W. Haskell, who was to have been the Progressive candidate for Congress in the First District, was to take the stump in behalf of the Democratic candidates, but to offset him we find such men as Halbert P. Gardner, who received 18,000 votes for Governor on the Progressive ticket in 1914, George C. Webber, who was to have been the Progressive candidate for senator, Alton C. Wheeler, who in 1914 polled over 6,000 votes as Progressive candidate for congressman in the Second District, Dr. E. D. Merrill of Buxcroft, who was Progressive candidate for Congress in the Fourth District in 1914, and hundreds of other Progressive leaders of Maine who have declared themselves for the Progressive and the Republican ticket. —Portland Express.

THE COMING OF HUGHES

Presidential Candidate Arrives in Maine Sept. 7, Makes Five Speeches.

Plans for making the visits of Charles Evans Hughes, the Republican Presidential nominee, to the State of Maine are now under way by the Republican State committee.

Scheduled speeches will be made at York Beach, Portland, Lewiston, Waterville and Bangor, and it is possible that platform remarks will also be delivered by the former Justice at other places where his train will stop.

Justice Hughes will arrive in Maine on Thursday, Sept. 7. At 2 o'clock that afternoon he will address a monster meeting at York Beach. Plans for this are practically completed and it is expected that fully 10,000 people will be on hand to hear him. Not only will the people of York county be out in force, but hundreds of summer visitors have made their plans to be on hand to hear the candidate.

Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock, Justice Hughes will speak in the Portland city hall. Friday morning, his three special cars will be attached to the 8:40 train from Portland and he will reach Lewiston at 10 o'clock where he will speak at 10:30. The departure will be made from Lewiston at 12:05 and Waterville will be reached at 1:25. The candidate will leave the train here and address the throng that will assemble on the Colby College campus. The time for this meeting is 2 o'clock and the Hughes train will leave at 3:30 for the eastern part of the State. It will stop awhile at Pittsfield at 3:34 and the candidate will also be given a chance to be seen at the other sections enroute. Bangor will be reached at 4:50 and the meeting in that city will be held in the city hall at 8 in the evening. Justice Hughes will leave at the conclusion of the meeting for New York.

City and county committees as well as the State committee are making extensive plans for the coming of the Presidential nominee and he will be met by delegations on entering the State and at every place where the train stops.

"No One on the Line"

When you answered your telephone did the operator say, "There is no one on the line now, please excuse it"?

She was right—there was no one at that moment; but, unless she accidentally rang by mistake, there had been someone who asked for your number and at whose request the operator rang your bell.

The reason there was no one there may be any one of the following:

Perhaps you were upstairs and you could not run down stairs to the telephone quickly enough; or you thought some other member of the family might respond to the ringing bell; or you waited a few moments before you started to go to the telephone, or were delayed in so doing.

The result is that the person who called was unwilling to wait for you to respond and hung up the receiver; it may have been with the belief that you were inaccessible, or it may have been impatiently.

There is another possibility: The person who asked for your number may have been in error and have given the wrong number; then discovering the mistake, have hung up the receiver and proceeded to call the right number.

There is also the possibility of occasional human error, where an operator has misunderstood the number given or has made a mistake in her switchboard work.

The greatest satisfaction in the use of the telephone comes from clear enunciation in giving numbers and in speaking, and in a prompt response when called.

HER OWN BOSS

Mary Pickford Features "Famous Players" and Weekly Salary of $2000.

Mary Pickford has severed her connection with the Famous Players Company, which has been starring her at a salary of $2000 a week and a percentage of the money made by the sale of the pictures in which she has appeared, and for some time to come she will be her own manager.

The "Queen of the Movies" has organized the Mary Pickford Film Corporation, with a studio in New York city, and she has already begun work on a new picture. Her last picture under the Famous Players' management, "Holla From Holland," was finished recently, and since then she has spent much of her time resting at her summer home near New York, with her husband, Owen Moore, who is still one of the players attached to the Famous Players' studio.

"It's been my little dream for a long time to manage personally my own pictures," says Miss Pickford. "I think I have learned a good deal about pictures in my work behind the camera, and that is just why I want to use this knowledge to the best advantage in building my own company, which will now produce all of the plays in which I am to appear."

Under the new arrangement Miss Pickford will not receive a salary, but will share in the profits made by the pictures in which she will act. Most of the capital supplied by the new concern has been furnished by the actress herself, and she expects to receive a larger income from the enterprise that she ever did with the Famous Players Company, large as her salary there was.

It is announced that the output of the Mary Pickford Film Company will be released independently and will be part of no general program.

ITALIANS LOSE DREADNOUGHT

Leonardo da Vinci Blown Up in Italian Harbor—Also Lose Steamship.

The Italian dreadnought Leonardo da Vinci caught fire and blew up in the harbor of Taranto, Italy, and 300 of her crew were drowned, says a Turin dispatch to the Petit Journal. The date of the disaster is given only as a day in August.

The fire says the dispatch, was discovered in the dreadnought's kitchen and spread rapidly. The captain immediately ordered the magazines flooded and tried to beach the battleship but the magazine exploded before this could be done. The vessel was turned over on her side and a large number of the crew were thrown into the sea.

It is believed that the battleship can be righted and re-floated.

The Leonardo da Vinci was launched in October, 1911. Her displacement was 22,000 tons and she carried a total company of 975 men.

CAPT. OSIER'S PERIL. New Harbor Fisherman Knocked Overboard, But Saved By Levi Elwell.

Capt. Thomas Osier of New Harbor, while making a run to Malincois island in his lobster smack recently, was knocked overboard by the main boom of his craft and experienced a narrow escape from drowning. Capt. Osier was at the wheel, steering, when the mainsail suddenly, swinging to the wind, caught him below the left ear and lifted him into the water.

Maurice Osier, the captain's son, who was acting as mate, "hove to" the smack, but the sloop was then several yards away from the drowning man. Capt. Osier, who cannot swim, was going down for the last time, when Levi Elwell, a Musconogus island fisherman, who had been following close behind the smack in his motorboat, observed the splashing and came up just in time to grab Osier by the coat collar and pull his head clear of the water. Elwell had considerable difficulty in hauling Osier into his motorboat, as the smackman is a heavy man and was almost exhausted.

THE BEECH HILL SOIL

Something About the Farms Produces a Staunch Sort of Yeomanry.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Between Beech Hill and Bear Hill, a distance of little more than a mile, there are ten farms that have produced a good deal of political timber. Fred A. Shepher, who two years ago ran for Governor on the Prohibition ticket and is now candidate for U. S. Senator on the same ticket, was born and lived for awhile under the shadow of Beech Hill. Arthur B. Packard has been State senator and selectman of Rockport and is now a county commissioner. J. A. Brewster has been treasurer of Lisbon and its representative in legislature. Loren Brewster was superintendent of Rockport schools. Daniel A. Packard when 21 was president of the Rockland board of common council. Carl E. Packard has been tax collector of Waldo. Henry H. Higgins is treasurer of the Union Trust Co., which isn't a political position but is an added example of the right sort of men that this section produces.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

Old fashioned poetry, but choicely good.

—Isaac Walton.

To the Fringed Gentian
Thou blossom, bright with autumn dew,
And colored with the heaven's own blue,
That openest when the quiet light
Succeeds the keen and frosty night;

Thou comest not when violets lean
O'er wandering brooks and springs unseen,
Or columbines, in purple dressed,
Nod o'er the ground bird's hidden nest.

Thou waitest late, and com'st alone,
When woods are bare and birds are flown,
And frost and shortening days portend
The aged Year is near its end.

Then doth thy sweet and quiet eye,
Look through its fringes to the sky,
Blue—blue—as if that sky let fall
A flower from its cerulean wall.

I would that thou, when I shall see,
The hour of death draw near to me,
Hope, blossoming within my heart,
May I look to heaven as I depart.

—William Cullen Bryant.

Eleven months of each year, this store gives you a dollar's worth of value for every dollar you spend in it. Here are some of these August Arguments in the way of a price pruning policy which are more convincing than any words we could use.

IN BUSINESS A MONTH

And Then Fire Put County Commissioner Gray's Vinalhaven Restaurant "On the Blink"

At 5.30 a. m. Mr. Gray built the kitchen fire, and went into the basement on business. When he returned 15 minutes later, he found that the stove funnel had dropped apart, and that the kitchen was all afire. Mrs. Gray managed to save some of her effects, but Mr. Gray saved only a suit of clothes which he wore at the time. Mrs. Gray's purse containing $25 was one of the lost items. The insurance on restaurant equipment and personal effects was $450, in the M. S. Bird & Co. agency, which Mr. Gray thinks about half covers his loss. The building was owned by Grover Babidge and was insured in D. H. Glidden's agency. Mr. and Mrs. Gray had been in charge of the restaurant about a month, and had already built up a good business, carrying ice cream as a side line.

The Class of 1916, Rockland High School, held a reunion at Oakland Park, Monday evening, August 14, 1916. The reunion was held at the Park Hotel, and was a most successful one. The class members were gathered together for the first time since graduation, and it was a most enjoyable occasion. The reunion was held at the Park Hotel, and was a most successful one.

One of the fool rumors in connection with the infantile paralysis matter was that Oakland Park had been closed. This probably arose from the fact that the motion picture performances were temporarily suspended. The Park is not only wide open, but would be recommended by any physician as one of the most beautiful places on earth, as well as one of the most delightful. Operations in a Rankin street hayfield seemed going slow, so the woman of the house went out to investigate and found her 8-year-old son doing the raking. "Where's the hired man?" she asked. "I don't know," replied the boy. "He gave me ten cents to do the work and he went off with a man on a cool cart, who said he had a quart. I guess he gave him a quart of peanuts," added the boy innocently.

E. M. Shaw thinks he saw a white crow in the midst of a flock of black ones the other morning at Cooper's Beach. "I've often heard of the white crow as being a natural wonder, so I looked hard," said Mr. Shaw. "The bird was of the same shape and size as the others, differing only in color. The flock was on the ground back of Wesley Post's house. Did you see that white bird?" I asked Mrs. Post. "To you mean that white crow?" she replied. "Oh, yes, he's been coming here several days."

The Alderbrush League is again deadlocked. Tuesdays game resulting to the discomfort of the Carverites by a score of 7 to 4. And this despite the fact that they had admittedly the stronger team. George A. Owl, an Indian player, connected with Hampton Institute, covered third for the Carverites, and was "the whole cheese" in the infield. Campbell was the Carverites' mainstay in the outfield, being Johnny on the spot whenever anybody touched off a skyrocket. Moran pitched a fine game for the victors.

The races at Belfast yesterday drew a large and enthusiastic crowd, the main feature being the 24th class, in which were four of the fastest horses that have been racing in Maine this year. Peru Bingen won in straight heats, the time being 2:24, 2:19 and 2:15. Peru easily showed he was the class of the field by stepping the last half of the last mile in 1:07, and the last quarter in 34 seconds, a 2:40 clip. All of the horsemen agreed that if forced he could get a mile in 2:45. Frank M. Simmons, who owns and drove the winner, is one of the brainiest drivers in New England.

A fair and sale were held at the Baptist vestry Wednesday afternoon under the direction of the young people of the society. The tables were well patronized and a goodly sum was cleared. In the evening an entertainment was held at 7:30, musical numbers by Miss Edith Castle, Miss Vera Moore and little Miss Mary Carter being on the program. Miss Watts gave a very interesting talk on the early days of the first Baptist church here. Photographs were thrown upon the screen of well known citizens who were prominent in the church years ago, and of the ministers who have occupied the pulpit during all the years since the church was first organized.

CRESCENT BEACH FISHING TRIP

Great Annual Sporting Event This Year Lands a Chicken Halibut.

The annual Crescent Beach fishing trip, always the notable event of the summer at that lovely piece of shore, was enjoyed Tuesday under perfect weather. Capt. Crockett's power boat "Uncle Sam" took a party of 16 to the island, where the lines were put over and from 10 o'clock to 3:45 it was a pretty busy group of fishermen, with no interruption except to eat a very satisfactory lunch.

Ed. Gillette was the official scorer, and from his carefully kept and naturally truthful records The Courier-Gazette is able to report the figures of one of the most successful of these popular Crescent Beach events. A total of 130 fish were taken, including 20 haddock, cod prevailing.

But what made the occasion especially memorable was a 12 pound halibut. Year after year this excursion of sporting characters has gone forth, hoping to capture the special prize of a halibut, and year after year only better disappointment has been recorded, for not a halibut would take the hook. It is a halibut would take the hook. It is a halibut would take the hook. It is a halibut would take the hook.

First prize, for first fish caught—G. E. Nesbit.

Second prize, largest fish—Frank Dow (the halibut catcher).

Third prize, most fish caught—Mr. and Mrs. Herriek and Mr. Nesbit, 21 each. As only one prize can go to a person, this fell to Mr. Herriek.

Fourth prize, the body, smallest catch—Mr. Clark, whose day's labor landed a solitary sculpin.

The participants were Edward Dudley of Boston, Rev. E. C. Herriek of Fall River, Dr. N. M. Wood and Frank Dow of Charlestown, Mass., Earl Hulse of Torrington, Conn., Dr. L. E. Gilchrist of Montclair, N. J., H. L. Lauer of Newark, N. J., Hersey Egginton and sons, Everett and Hersey, Jr., and Eugene Clark of Brooklyn, N. Y., G. L. Nesbit and Elisha Fales of Somerville, Mass., E. E. Gillette and E. G. Whelan of Lexington, Mass., and Charles A. Rose of Rockland.

A large measure of the day's happiness and success was due to the labors of Mr. Rose in organizing the expedition and seeing to it that there were no dull moments anywhere in the program. The participants were happy to acknowledge this fact.

ROCKLAND GROCERS' PLAY

The Rockland Grocers' Association held its annual field day Wednesday at Oakland Park, where 4000 spectators witnessed the interesting array of sports.

The Camden Band furnished a generous concert program, and this with the splendid weather, put everybody in the most comfortable frame of mind imaginable.

The Northend baseball team took a sad licking from the Southend grocers despite Captain Ayers' valiant efforts to rally his men. The final score was 24 to 4, or thereabouts. Gilley and Sullivan were the Southenders' battery and Dodge and Hare were in the points for the Northenders.

A. E. Brunberg, formerly secretary of the Rockland Y. M. C. A., had charge of the field day sports, and handled the long program in the most expeditious manner. Roy L. Knowlton and E. C. Moran, Jr., were the judges and Fred E. Leach was clerk. This was the summary:

100-Yard Dash for Clerks—Won by Thornton; Flint, second; Randall, third; Seavey, fourth; Huntley, fifth.

A MOTHER'S TRIBUTE

To a Dear Child Who Was a Victim of Infantile Paralysis.

We have received the following communication from Mrs. Donald L. Karl, relative to the recent death of her little child, who was the first local victim of infantile paralysis. It is the outpouring of an anguished heart—a sad story told in public print that others may possibly be saved from her experience.

It seems as if my whole body was paralyzed with this almost unbearable sorrow that has come upon us, but for the benefit of other mothers I would like to have them know, so they can be more watchful lest their little ones be snatched from them as ours has been. It seems that no one has been more careful or kept their children at home more closely than we, on account of this disease.

Saturday morning we started out on a boating trip, with the children apparently as well as ever, although Beverly had said when he woke up that his neck hurt. I thought he had hardly woke up, but rubbed him and he said he was all right. He seemed to be sick on the trip, still he never complained once and we thought he was seasick. That night we carried him home from the boat, and when we stood him on his feet he asked to be taken up again.

Sunday he didn't seem real well, but thinking it was the effects of seasickness we did not call the doctor. Monday he was no better and we called the doctor. He said it could not be seasickness and feared infantile paralysis. Not believing it could be so we called another doctor and then another for consultation. Dr. Young of Augusta yet feared the worst.

A nurse was called, but there seemed nothing to do for the little one. He kept growing worse and worse and the end came Thursday morning.

Everyone who knew him knew what a beautiful sunny disposition he had, always so loving, patient and good, and much older appearing than his years. He had always been an unusual child, and somehow it seemed as if he was too good to live. He leaves a little sister nearly five years old, to whom he was very devoted and who had watched over and cared for him as a mother. To her as to us all there is a vacant place that can never be filled. God needed his little life more than we.
